

Vive Guaviare

365 days a year to enjoy 18
sites of interest, 3 archeological walls of paleolithic rock art 12
excursions in the rock formations,
+ than 10 spots for bathing,
2 colored rivers, lakes and peace
tourism projects...

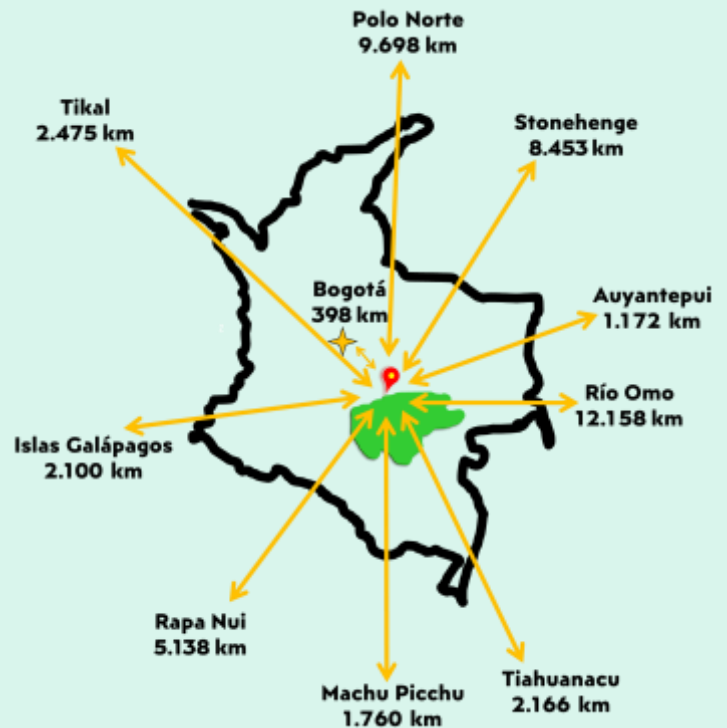

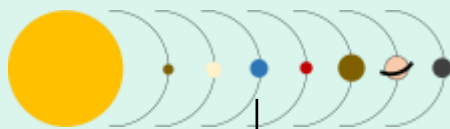

2026

Nature,
heritage
and peace

In search of new places with many options
for different activities in natural settings
that are full of history?

The Amazon tropical jungle, the Orinoco
plains and relics of the Guyana Shield gather in Guaviare forming lush scenarios
full of colors, memories, textures, sounds,
flavors and shapes.

Climate

Rain pattern variations mark the different seasons along the year. This fluctuation sets two big important moments for the tourism activity as two seasons singled out by the presence of the endemic water plants in the colored rivers during the winter.

Summer goes from December to May approximately. It's quite strong between January and February when temperatures reach 36° C (97° F) or even more. We have had several weeks in a row without any rain.

For travel in summertime you should expect that some sites like waterfalls or swimming holes may be affected by a partial or total reduction of water levels..

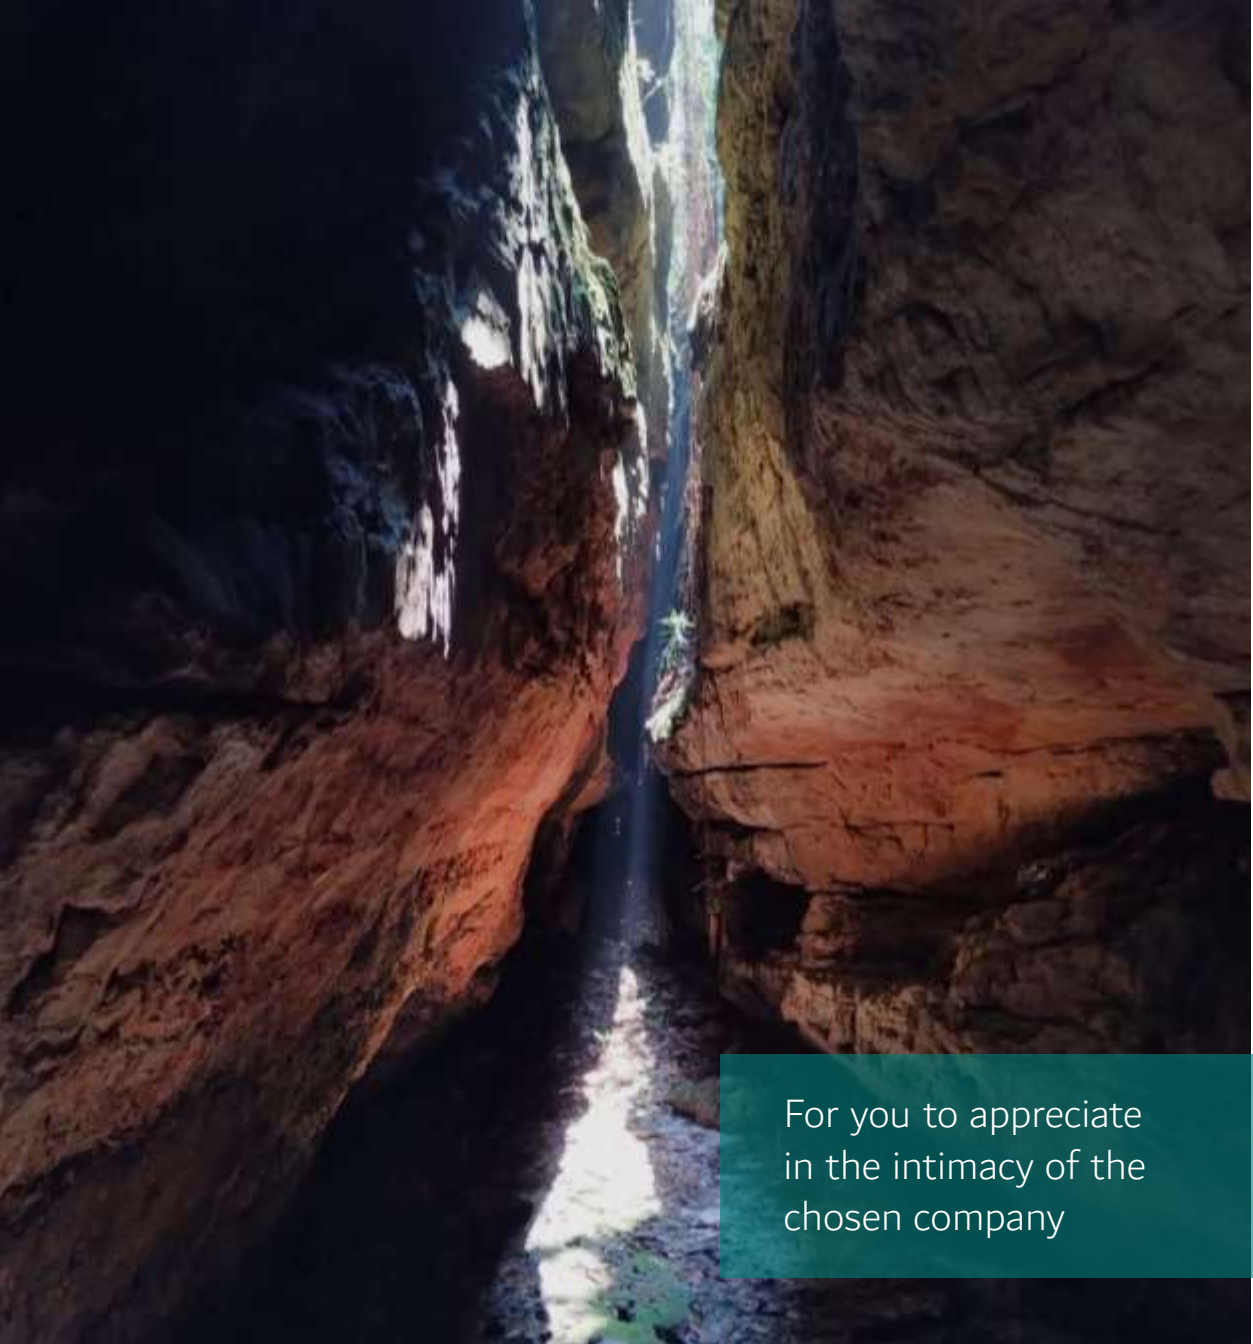

Winter runs approximately from June to November. Rainy peaks show up around late May or June. Time for flooding can continue until mid-July. There we have the lowest temperatures in the year around 22° C (72° F).

During the rainy period between April and July it rains often but not all day. Different visits are possible.
